ANACHRONAUTS TO PLAY AT THE NITE OWL

Anachronauts, Dayton's newest folk-rock group, will open for Pastures Green at the Nite Owl on 5th Street in downtown Dayton Thursday, June 1st. Also appearing will be Frozen Feet.

Anachronauts relocated from Louisiana in August of 1994, losing a drummer and gaining a lead guitarist in the process. They played their first Ohio show in January of 1995 at Antioch College.

The group, which formed in New Orleans in 1990, is the brainchild of Scott and Stacey Burright. Anachronauts' music has been called "technofolk" and "sci-fi folk" by independent observers, and has been described as sounding like "Devo with a really good Baptist church choir soloist" and "like the B-52s, only quirkier."

Current Anachronauts line-up includes Scott Burright (vocals, guitar), Stacey Burright (vocals, bass), and Steve Forte (lead guitar). Steve also plays guitar and sings for Dayton's Beער Pagans.

Two self-produced EPs are now available from Anachronauts: Science Marches On (7 songs, acoustic) and Popular Science (4 songs, electric). Anachronauts will appear on a vinyl split single that will be released by Eerie Materials of San Francisco this fall. The single will also feature surfpunk band Man Or Astroman?. #####
